The Lost Ship – The thrilling Book Two in The Powers That Be Trilogy—an epic sci-fi action-adventure series by John Hopkins

An ancient Gray race time travels to the present after a humiliating Cretaceous-era colonization failure, seeking to recover and detonate a world-killer superweapon abandoned on a 90-million-year-old shipwreck lost to time in what is now the Amazon’s vast unexplored reaches.

Book Two in The Powers That Be Trilogy, THE LOST SHIP, immerses readers in the day-after chaos, carnage, and confusion following the near-apocalyptic ending of THE GOLDEN ELLIPSE.

THE LOST SHIP twists and turns through post-invasion ruins, culminating in a supernatural confrontation deep in the heart of the unforgiving Amazon wilderness where fates are sealed, and humanity’s destiny illuminates in a cerulean glow.

About the author

Author and artist John Hopkins’ keen curiosity for what lies beyond common knowledge shapes his character-driven storytelling. Following his muse, John created Lost Cactus, a comic strip set on a top-secret research base akin to Area 51. The three-panel strip’s humor and supernatural mythology evolved into a shared universe of short stories that laid the foundations of The Powers That Be trilogy and a wellspring of thought-provoking and entertaining projects in the pipeline.

Stay tuned and keep an eye on the sky.
